

DOME in NYLON: Arflex & B.Lux

Framed by saffron-colored nylon, the latest trends of Italian design will be exhibited in Dome and presented to the public through a sophisticated and evocative design from the architect Rachele Pellegatta.

The installation includes the execution of four living areas that display the new collection of armchairs designed by the Claesson Koivisto Rune studio for Arflex, skilfully combined with great Arflex masterpieces such as the Marengo sofa or the Botolo armchair by Cini Boeri.

Through a partition system created with the Alba bookcase, the living area is divided from the sleeping area, occupied by the Sigmund desk by Studio Asaï and by a modular storage system designed by Porro.

Illuminating the products will be B.Lux lamps, such as the Speers S or the C_Ball, chosen by Dome Milano Interior for the innovative impact they bring to any environment.

Finally, to complete the installation, we find two rooms dedicated to the most convivial area of the house: the kitchen. Arclinea Principia and Italia kitchens create two cooking areas separated from the living area but still integrated with it, creating a modern and communal space characterized by large worktops and numerous storage spaces.
